Hi Everyone,

These are the famous Vintage Polk Audio Monitor 10 speakers. They consist of two 6.5" bass drivers, a 10" passive radiator and silver coil dome tweeters. I have had a lot of vintage speakers, but can tell you these are one of the best. The bass is very tight and goes very low. The highs and mids are silky smooth and airy. You can spend a lot more money on speakers, but you won't get many that sound better. The sound is effortless and non-fatiguing.

The drivers are all original and in excellent shape. The surrounds are rubber, so they will never rot. I just can't say enough good things about them. I believe since he (Polk) is using smaller 6" drivers, the transient response is very fast, meaning the bass is very tight. Try searching on the web for Polk Audio monitor 10. See what owners have to say about them. You will read rave reviews. I have personally talked to other owners who have done direct comparisons to speakers costing thousands and they said they wouldn't trade. I have like them so much, over the years I have owned 3 pair. I keep going back to them. I am sure the lucky bidder will be very happy. They will weigh about 50 pounds packed. If you need the parts, I can remove and ship just them at no extra charge.

Overall the condition is nice. A few minor scratches and dings, but nothing terrible. Please see all the pictures. The picture of the bottom corner ding is not noticeable when in use. The camera picture actually makes it look worse then it is. One speaker is missing two grill pegs but they can be very inexpensively purchased from www.partsexpress.com. About $2.00 for 12 pair.

The specs from Polks website are as follows:
