The Expensive Sound of the Affordable Monitor Series:

In 1972, Polk Audio created a new standard for high performance and affordability with the introduction of its original Monitor 7 loudspeaker. Audiogram Magazine said, "we were so impressed we could not believe the prices...they're a steal." Also referring to the Monitors, Musician Magazine said, "If you're shopping for stereo, our advice is not to buy speakers until you've heard the Polks."

Today, Polk Audio furthers this tradition of offering state-of-the-art sound at affordable prices with its new Monitor Series 2 Loudspeakers. Seven models, from the compact Monitor 4 to the awesome sounding Monitor 12, provide the music lover with a variety of sizes, power outputs and performance levels that will match any sonic or physical requirement, each within a modest budget.

All of these affordable speakers have one thing in common - the unmistakable, exciting sound of Polk.

Polk's Eight Parameters of High Performance:

Polk established eight clearly defined performance objectives for its new Monitor series. They would, in varying degrees:

1. achieve an open, boxless, three dimensional sound
2. produce a flat frequency response that would be pleasing even during extended listening
3. reproduce transients that translate into crisp, lifelike clarity
4. deliver exceptionally deep, tight bass that could be felt as well as heard
5. attain a wide dispersion of high and mid frequencies for non-critical placement within the listening room
6. maintain high efficiency
7. be able to handle significant amounts of power
8. utilize the highest quality components for a long life of reliability

These fundamental design objectives guided the team of Polk engineers in its evolutionary search for sonic perfection of the famed Monitor series. Only through the sophisticated research resources at Polk, were these objectives so decisively attained.
